Public Should Not Be Forgotten

The criticism of the administration that arose in City Council's session Monday night on the question of a parking meter purchase, was one of the public manifestations of a quiet controversy that has been boiling just below the surface for weeks - and particularly since bids were opened on the purchase of the devices early in March.

Based on comments made Monday night, several of the councilmen seem to favor a device known as the Park-O-Meter, distributed by the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey have indicated they favor a similar meter made by the Karpark Corp. of Starkville, Miss.

The two administration executives, who comprise the Board of Control, contend that 409 new meters can be purchased from the Karpark Corp. at a saving of approximately $2,300, compared with the Park-O-Meter price.

They said more than a week ago that an investigation of the Karpark meter shows it has performed satisfactorily in a number of communities.

Before the bids were opened, the existence of the Karpark organization was unknown here. Its appearance out of the blue, so to speak, was bound to inject a new quality into the consideration of me-

Prior to that time, it was believed the country's only so - called automatic meter was the device distributed by Rockwell. Council's legislation stipulated automatic meters, so it was believed initially that only one device could be considered.

Aside from Karpark, all the other bidders offered manual meters and their proposals could be considered, according to the mayor and director.

The matter now boils down to a question of judgment between Council on one hand and the administration on the other. Regardless of any future argument and discussion, officials in both branches of city government should remember that their sole mission is to select the meter that will do the job best at the lowest possible price. The motoring public, which eventually will pay the bill with its pennies, nickels and dimes, should not be shoved into the background in what well might become a political issue between a Democratic Council and a Republican administration.

Commonplace

"Illegal activities have gone on for years and are so commonplace they have become part of community life."

The words are those of Jack Upton, city manager of Moundsville, W. Va., as he looks to Charleston for help in eliminating the problem of gambling and unlawful liquor sales.

Some commonplace things - thriving industry, civic spirit ang good schools among others - are an asset to any community. Illegal activities are not.

Those with situations similar to that which is plaguing nearby Moundsville would do well to take notice. The commonplace at times can become a major community headache.

One Ruling At A Time

If the U.S. Supreme Court follows through on its intent to release the news of decisions as they are made, instead of holding them for release in bunches on Monday of each week the court is sitting, everybody can be better informed.

If the court then could see its way clear to prepare newsmen who report its ruling so these harried functionaries did not have to boil down into lucid prose in a few minutes' time what legal draftsmen have taken weeks to mumbo-jumbo into obscurity, Chief Justice Warren's department could take itself off the hook.

The prickly truth is that in an area when the judicial branch is under the guns of neo-anarchists who would prefer to abolish government under the guise of saving their way of life, the practice of releasing court rulings in batches has been playing into the hands of the court's critics. The attendant confusion has given critics a chance to distort the rulings beyond recognition. Reporters and commentators were not prepared to cope with just one key ruling, let alone more than one. This gave the distorters a free crack at interpretations.

This was vividly illustrated in the school prayer decisions, which were hard to understand in the first place and so distorted by critics of the Supreme Court that the actual meaning of the decisions remains concealed to many people to this

The Supreme Court did not rule that prayer was unconstitutional. That was what its critics wanted people to believe. What it ruled was that public authority could not prescribe either the text or the act of prayer; that prayer was an individual act of faith, not a political requirement.

Abything that will give newsmen a better chance to tell the American people what the Supreme Court has done and distorters of public information less chance to twist information into grotesqueries that confuse the public is all to the good.

A combination of wishful thinking and inaccuracy caused the misstatement in an editorial referring to the Republican party's attractive young men that Charles H. Percy was a former governor of

The fact is, Mr. Percy was not elected governor of Illinois, though his prospects were so bright his admirers still think about him as if he had made it.

His political star rose in the Illinois primary a year ago, when he polled better than 60 per cent of the Republican vote against William J. Scott, state treasurer. Mr. Scott supported Barry M. Goldwater, who was believed to command significant strength among Illinois Republicans. Gov. Otto J. Kerner was renom Illinois Democratic primary without op-

In an election race that made Mr. Percy the favorite, Gov. Kerner was the winner by a narrow margin, though President Johnson and Sen. Humphrey swept the state with ease - 2,743,640 to 1,862,502 for Goldwater-Miller.

Officers at the Lisbon barracks of the Ohio Highway Patrol have expanded on the need for safety and offer the following rules for bicyclists to follow

Obey all traffic laws; ride single file; light up at night; keep bike in good condition; one rider to a bike: never hitch a ride; stop for pedestrians; give hand signals; use a carrier basket; park it right; no stunt riding; ride a bike that fits you; be sure the seat is right; adjust and tighten handle bars.

This may seem like a lot of trouble to go through merely to ride a bicycle, but statistics tell a story that calls for extra care: Bicycle-auto accidents in Ohio during 1964 killed 52 children and injured

None of us should be surprised because 100,000 informers tattle to the Internal Revenue Service on their fellow citizens.

Starting Point

That's the way people are, generally speaking. And, incidentally, why was it never mentioned during the Air Force Academy dust-up on tattling that the late Douglas MacArthur won fame as a West Point cadet for refusing to tattle, though threatened with expulsion for being true to a family code of honor?

There always will be tattlers. The point of their existence will bear no discussion. To tattle is to be human, the same as to

What will bear discussion is tattleesthe people who make it feasible and financially attractive for the tattlers to ply their predisposition to tattle. If this Republic had a permanent commission on public morals, this matter would bear looking into. What should be done about people who encourage betrayal?

A FEW YEARS AGO, there flourished in this land of the free a coterie of professional witnesses willing to smear a citizen with false evidence of complicity in Communism. For anyone this low on the scale of humanity it would be hard to muster censure.

They stand even lower than the wretches who make a living at being stool pigeons. Stoolies are paid for telling what is true. The creeps who testified against citizens in hearings that brought forth Communist smears were paid for telling lies. Who paid them? They were witnesses in official government proceedings. The government made the tattler's lies

The tattlees were the guilty parties. They provided a market for false infor-

In IRS tattling, as in all government tattling, there is no supply without theoretical demand. It comes around to a matter of honor. How far will the government stoop to play ball wth tattlers?

If he people of the United States cannot expect honor in government, itself, where should they expect to find it?

TAKE THE MATTER of the federal income tax. Every public official who takes an oath to uphold government should be willing to make public disclosure of his income tax return.

This should be equally true of appointive and elected officials. All should be willing to do what a few now do - tell the people whose public trust they hold exactly how much they took in from all sources.

U.S. senators who are everlastingly insinuating that someone else might be shady should be most eager to set this fine example.

It would boost popular morale overnight to know that government personnel has nothing to hide. It would be worth it if only to let the people know that tattlers would be wasting their time snooping around citizens on the public payroll. Many Americans are concerned about the low state of public morale. They wish something could be done about it.

Will It Also Be An Honest Society?

By DAVID LAWRENCE Will the Great Society be an honest society? Will an exposure of the corruption in politics which was witnessed in the 1964 presidential and cong ressional campaigns be undertaken by Congress? Will public sentiment demand There is.

for instance, a law on the David Lawrence statute books known as the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. Thus far it has been narrowly interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States. Congress has made no effort to correct the omissions which are plainly indicated by the rulings of the high court.

The existing statute makes it unlawful "for any corporation whatever, or any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which presidential and vice presidential electors or a senator or representative in, or a delegate or resident commissioner to Congress are to be voted for, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held to select candidates for any of the foregoing offices, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this

THE SAME LAW defines a labor organization as one "in which employes participate and which exists for the purpose, in whole or in part, of dealing with employers concerning grievances, labor disputes, wages, rates of pay, hours of employment or conditions of work.

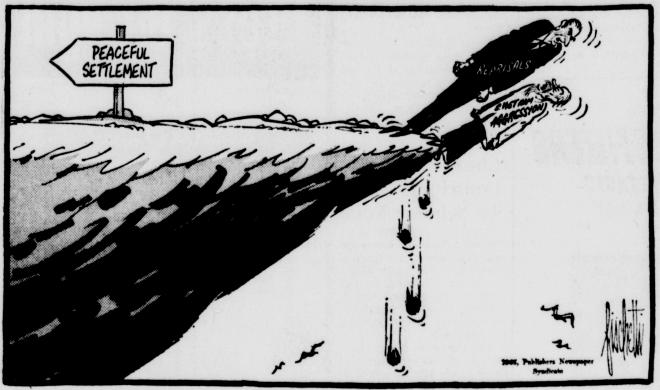

In order to get around this statute, separate organizations have been set up under the direction of officials of unions and others active in the labor-union movement. Because these organizations are not supported by the regular dues of union members but depend instead on "voluntary" contributions, they have come to be regarded as immune from the prohibitions set forth in existing federal law.

The Supreme Court has discussed the subject in two important cases. One was decided in 1948 and dealt solely with a labor-union publication distributed among its own members or subscribed for by those members.

The second case, which came up for decision in 1957, involved the propriety of a union's expenditure in sponsoring a broadcast that went "to the public at

Labor Pressure Irks President

By VICTOR RIESEL

With typical Johnsonian sensitivity, the President is beginning to resent the fashion and frequency with which some capital labor leaders are pressuring him personal-Not too long ago several union chiefs came by to see him and. as he later related the Victor Riesel story, "pounded" his desk. They wanted a big push on some legislation. Finally, for the first time in anger, he told them, in effect: Okay, go it alone if you want; I'm President of the U.S. and I'll do it in my own due time. Later ren cident, he told some friends that it reminded him of an old Texas "You know if you corner a steer," he said, "one of two things happens-he jumps the fence or you get run over." The President is not running over any labor leaders but he is eying the fence.

HE ADMIRES some union leaders. As a political scientist he has a healthy respect for their political sagacity and machinery. He has an almost emotional affection for two or three of them.

A handful does not make a movement-and he believes that some have let him down and it's difficult to get an oldfashioned agreement with many makes the loans!"

The President and some of his advisers of the Cabinet feel they've been "bludgeoned" recently when they tried to move in on the labor front.

President Johnson asked publicly that the unions stay within the economic guidelines when asking for increases. This was designed to keep new labor costs at no more than a 3.2 per cent increase. Walter Reuther's Auto Union cracked the line. Now the Steel Union has smashed it.

AT FIRST it appeared that the United Steelworkers of America would seek about $20 a week more. A week later, new demands totaled $40 more per week per man. This would cost the steel industry about $1 billion dollars a year more.

New analyses show that actually the new union demands may cost double that figure This would mean higher prices, more foreign competition and an outflow of U.S. gold to other countries to pay for foreign steel.

There is little that is closer to the President's heart now than keeping the life-giving gold in Fort Knox.

There were other instances where the White House public appeals were rejected just as publicly. Early this year the President asked the Longshoremen to all go back to work. They did not.

So the President now has backed off from active intervention despite a series of crises looming in the nation's major industries. Following the chief's policy is Willard Wirtz, who now has become America's 'Mr. Manpower," as well as special adviser to Mr. Johnson on other matters

So far his record in foreign affairs is unimpressive but he has done amazingly well in getting action from Congress on his programs, particularly some which the men in the Capitol steadfastly refused to approve for almost two decades.

There were two astonishing examples today:

His proposal of federal aid to education - in elementary and secondary schools - came up for debate in the Senate. It passed the House March 26. Today also the House began consideration of Johnson's health care for the aged program.

Both programs are expected to pass both houses and become law. Both of them have been kicking around in Congress, in one form or another, for at least 18 years. Opposition to them was always too strong until is willing to make some compromises to get legislation through instead of sitting rigidly in the ice box where otherwise it might wind up. For years the aid to education bill had run into a pair of stone walls: one was the fear this might open the door to federal interference in education; the other was the old church-state conflict. This meant in the past a double opposition: on one side, opposition to federal aid for parochial schools; on the other, opposition to federal aid if some of it didn't go to parochial schools. Johnson managed to concoct a program which didn't give direct aid to parochial schools but could help individual children in those schools. The conflict pretty much dissolved. The bulk of the money, $1,066,-000,000, would go to schools in poor sections throughout the country. The funds would all go to public schools. But special services, such as shared-time classes and counseling, would be provided for students in parochial and other private For years the House Ways and Means Committee, headed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., had been the big bottleneck on programs of health care for the aged. Then late last month it cleared for action by the House - the action the House was taking today — a measure even broader than the program Johnson had asked Congress to approve earlier in the year.

It is not only the speed with which the education and health care programs are moving through Congress that is astonishing. Equally so is the realization that both seem sure of pas-

Congress already has passed Johnson's program of federal aid for the 11-state Appalachia area. Still pending are other major pieces of legislation this year: an excise tax cut, presidential disability, congressional redistricting, a minimum wage increase, and a bill to protect Negroes' voting rights.

charged defendants with having distributed only to union members or purchasers an issue of The CIO News. a weekly newspaper owned and published by the CIO. That issue contained a statement by the CIO president urging all members of the CIO to vote for a certain candidate. Thus, unlike the unionsponsored political broadcast alleged in this case (1957), the communication for which the defendants were indicted in CIO was neither directed nor delivered to the public at large. The organization merely distributed its house organ to its own people.

"The evil at which Congress has struck in Section 313 is the use of corporation or union funds to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party.

Since these cases were decided, the labor unions have set up what they call "voluntary" organizations, which presumaably have an entirely different personnel from the labor unions and derive no financial support from the regular union organizations or from dues collected by those organizations.

THERE'S NO DOUBT that labor-union officials often participate in conferences with the separate or "voluntary" organization and that there are frequent consultations between the two groups relating to political activities in support of particular candidates for federal offices

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act describes a "contribution" as "anything of value." Hence. if a union or corporation fur-nishes to the "voluntary" outside organization the part-time services of its executives or officials or members while they are being paid for that time by the corporation or union, the donation of such services is open to question in the courts.

The fact remains that the political activities of labor groups involve the collection and expenditure of more money than is usually raised or spent by many of the local organizations of either the Republican or the Democratic party throughout the country.

So the real problem is whether the rights of the American people, who deserve to have fair elections, are being violated through loopholes in the law or by indifference to the enforcement of the law.

Certainly when millions and millions of dollars are being spent to influence elections and when something which is prohibited directly is being done indirectly, this is an issue which is of vital concern to all the people who believe in "law and order" or what has lately been emphasized again and again as "strict enforcement of the law of the land.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE?

Sure it is-a Wheel of Good Fortune, because you can't lose. Red Ball Dealer Service-exclusive with Atlantic-is so good that if an Atlantic Red Ball dealer ever forgets to clean your windshield, weather permitting, or offer to check your oil, your gasoline purchase is free!

Frankly, your chances of driving off with that free gasoline are pretty slim, because Atlantic Red Ball dealers seldom forget anything. When you drive into an Atlantic Red Ball station, all you can really expect is the finest petroleum products and the most attentive service you've ever enjoyed.

So you're still a winner.

Father Asks $19.007 In Traffic Death Case

LISBON - Robert H. Bolam filed a $19,007 civil action Tuesday in Common Pleas Court in connection with the alleged 'wrongful death" of his son, Robert W. Bolam, in a traffic accident May 15, 1964, on Route 14 four miles east of Columbiana.

The suit names as defendant William R. Hibbs, 23, of East Palestine. Bolam claims his son was a passenger in a car driven by Hibbs when it was hit by a car belonging to Carolyn E. Boyls, 25, of East Liverpool. He seeks $18,000 for the wrongful death and $1,007 for funeral expenses.

Hibbs was indicted by the September 1964 Grand Jury on a charge of second degree manslaughter, but was found not guilty by a jury.

DON'T BE AN UNKNOWING DIABETIC

There are more than 30 million people in the world now shortening their lives because they do not know they have diabetes. What a pity; for it can be lived with.

If there is a history of diabetes in your family and you are overweight, — or if you are troubled by too frequent urination or have a quick loss of weight — check with your physician. These may be your warning signals. Our diabetic aid department carries a complete stock of medicines and other needs.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Jack Nicklaus, the long-hitting bomber and the 4-1 choice in this elite, international field of 93, doesn't agree entirely. "You still got to get there," said the 25-year-old husky from Columbus, Ohio, today.

Nicklaus, a nonwinner this year, served notice Tuesday that he appears fit and ready to break into the winner's circle. He unleashed a five-under-par 67 for the par 36-36-72, 6,980yard Augusta National Golf Club layout on a hot and sunny after-

The 5-foot-11, 200-pounder closed out a round that included eight birdies and three bogeys by holing out a 40-foot chip shot from the fringe back of the

"It was a good round," said Nicklaus "but my short game was sloppy.'

It was Nicklaus' first tour of the course since he left to spend the weekend with his family in Columbus. He had whipped the course five times last week with rounds of 68, 69, 68, 68 and 70.

"I left because I didn't want to stay here too long and get said the smiling and jovial 1963 Masters king. "I preferred to work on my game last week before the crowds came and so I wouldn't be bothered. I practiced before and after each round.

Asked to name five chief contenders, Nicklaus pondered and then named defending champion Arnold Palmer, South African Gary Player, Australia's Bruce Casper.

Palmer who expressed con ders, Devlin, Casper and Lema to give him the most trouble.

Soft-Lined Roma

It's the first shoe in the world upholstered with a soft, cushiony foam inner lining.

It not only covers your foot. It comforts it. Calms it down. Relaxes it.

The lining is made of a special breathing foam, bonded to wear-proof nylon fabric. It lasts for the life of the shoe.

You'll find it in laced and slip-on styles, all with Thom McAn's exclusive Roma construction. Lightweight, flexible, long wearing.

The Soft-Lined Roma took seven weeks to become the largest selling shoe in the country.

When you try a pair on, you'll wonder what took so long.

PUC OKs Ohio Bell Rates On Cable TV

CLEVELAND (AP) Ohio Bell Telephone Co. says rates it set for installing and maintaining the lines of Community Antenna Television companies have been accepted by the Public Utilities Commission.

The rates announced Tuesday apply only to CATV companies. not to individual subscribers of CATV service. Ohio Bell will install coaxial cable and related equipment for CATV companies, which in turn sell their closed circuit service to local sub-

The Bell monthly rates were set at from $8.25 to $16.25 for every quarter mile of cable, depending on various factors.

Councilmen Walter Henthorne and Paul Todd both commented on the possibility of relocating city offices in the city-owned building at 12th St., the former Standard Hardware building.

A previous suggestion was that it could be used as a city garage. Henthorne suggested all offices, including the police and fire departments, be moved to the building.

Todd did not include the fire department. He reported he had talked with Fire Chief Robert Lewis who said it was not considered practical to house the fire trucks in the building.

LEWIS explained it takes more space to maneuver the trucks.

Todd said city equipment could still be housed in the basement, with all other operations on the ground floor. He said the remodeling probably would cost $20,000.

Councilman Dwight MacLean said that if the present City Hall is abandoned, the land will revert back to the heirs of the Wells estate. This was questioned. Bush said he was not aware of this as he had not studied the deed.

Legislation was ordered to have a new roof installed on the building at 12th St. The present roof leaks badly.

A claim was received from Richard Smith of Henry Ave. for $40 for damage he said was caused when a city sanitary sewer backed up into his basement. It was clogged by a tree root. The claims committee will investigate.

ROBERT Falconer of R. D. who said he owns a farm near the city reservoir, said he has attle and state law says the land must be fenced with each property owner sharing the cost He asked Council if funds are available for the city's share. He offered to erect the fence if the city will allow him to cut some timber from city land as its share. The property committee was asked to investigate. The street and light committee was asked to check requests for street lights in the alley behind City Hall and in an alley between Buckeye Ave. and White St. The Rev. Robert Andrews gave the opening pray-

SLICE HAM LABEL. MAIL TO: Canton Provision Company, Handi-Slice Ham, Carnahan Ave., Canton, Ohio.

DON'T PAY FOR BONES!

Only Pioneer gives 94% bone-free Handi-Slice convenience. Handi-Slice is the one ham requested by name. That's because Pioneer Handi-Slice is the only ham with old-time flavor and modern bones-out convenience. You see, Pioneer boning specialists remove the large ham bones leaving nothing but solid ham that carves into slices of the leanest ham you've ever seen. Only a tiny shank bone is retained to keep the ham form. Buy your Easter ham now and save during this special coupon offer.

Midwest Area Hit By Floods

Midwestern fields white with snow a month ago and dusty in one of the worst droughts in history six months ago are quagmires today.

Deep snowpacks and April rains, necessary ingredients for successful growing seasons for farmers, melted in spring warmth and for the next few weeks will be an inconvenience and occasionally a tragedy.

The river hit a crest of 27.1 feet, causing an estimated $500,-000 damage.

It was the worst flood in the community of 8,500 in 74 years. Flood-control experts said a higher crest could be expected. Mayor Dale Goldie declared an emergency.

More than 250 National Guardsmen helped with evacuations and a precautionary shipment of typhoid vaccine was rushed in.

At Sioux Rapids, between Cherokee and Spencer, the Little Sioux flooded the waterworks and reportedly contaminated the water.

The Red Cross sheltered 650 persons from Cherokee, Waterloo and Marshalltown. The flooding affected eight counties.

No. 16 PTA Picks Officers

Ed Serafy was elected presi dent of the No. 16 Parent-Teacher Association Monday night in the Southern Local School near

Other officers on the slate presented by the nominating committee of Mrs. Mary Mc-Elroy, Mrs. Joleen Cattrell and Mrs. Phyllis Boyce were also approved. They are:

Mrs. Marjorie Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Freda Schubert, principal, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Bender, secretary, and Mrs. Janet Kevan, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Pelley, historian; Mrs. Martha Grafton, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Cattrell and Mrs. Boyce, council delegates.

Devotions were led by Judy Huston, an eighth grader, and Mrs. Lucille Huston, president, was in charge. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Schubert, in the absence of Mrs. Lois Kelley, and the minutes were read by Mrs. Martha Serafy, secretary. A letter was read by Mrs. Serafy, pertaining to the levy up for rrenewal for the retarded children's program. It was stressed that the levy is not a new one and will not be an added tax.

The attendance count was won by Mrs. Bender's first grade and her homeroom mothers were in charge of refreshments. Installation will be held at the meeting May 3 with the outgoing executive committee in charge. It will begin with a potluck supper at 6:30 p. m. for the families. Rolls, meat, butter and beverage will be provided and a dessert or vegetable casserole are to be brought.

The state's chief executive, 59, challenged pretty Muriel Grossfield of New Haven, Conn. to an impromptu pushup contest. She is a consultant on physical fitness and did 10 quick pushups.

The governor struggled through one, then quit.

"I guess I'm out of practice," Brown said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has nine children, has established a trust fund for children of Sherpa climbing guides in Nepal.

Kennedy set up the trust fund, believed to be more than $7,500, with the fee he received from Life magazine for an article on his ascent last month to the top of the 13,900-foot Mt. Kennedy, named after his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, announced Tuesday his return to law practice. He also said he did not expect to run for any efficies insulation.

-Junior Editors Quiz on-BIRDS OF PARADISE

QUESTION: Where did the name "bird of paradise" come from?

* * * ANSWER: Most varieties of the wonderful creatures called birds of paradise live in eastern countries south of the equators, most of them in New Guinea, some in Australia. The brilliant colors and unusual shapes of their plumes created a demand in Europe for their skins as early as 1400. Because Javanese traders shipped the skins with the legs removed, a false notion arose that the birds lived their lives entirely in the air, flying in circles around the sun. The females were supposed to deposit their eggs in a nest built on the male's back. This aerial life with their beautiful plumage led to the name.

The large bird in the picture is a male bird of paradise, fluffing out his plumes as these birds do at the mating season. His tail, body and wings are pinkish copper color. The top of his head is white with a brilliant green area on the throat. The lifted plumes are brilliant yellow with flecks of red, pinkish toward the back. Below, a King of Saxony's bird of paradise displays his amazing bright blue head plumes; his body is black and yellow. The birds in the air are green, cream color and black. There are many other kinds, equally remarkable in shape and color.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the birds according to our notes above. Make the trees light bluish green so they will look far away and give the sky the feeling of air.

Tana von Isser of Elgin, Ill., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
